WHEREAS, on August 4, 2011 the Board reviewed the application including exhibits and documents and has made the following findings:

1. The original, historic structure built in 1948 is not being completely demolished.
2. The structure to be partially demolished does not represent the work of a master or possess high artistic values. The architect of the original structure is unknown; Lauren Grunewald was the original owner and builder. Review of City resources and Internet sources indicates that this structure was not the work of a master.
3. There are no events associated with this property that make a significant contribution to the history or cultural heritage of local or regional history. The building is listed on the Historical Building Study List as a type “H” Resource. Review of City records and historic resources publications has not provided any additional information that suggests that this structure has historical and cultural merit.
4. The property is not associated with persons important to local, state or national history. Staff was unable to find any records that define the property as containing historical and cultural merit (also see findings 1 & 2 above).
